Dear Colleague,

Two years ago, Cairo University launched "Journal of Advanced Research", its first international multidisciplinary journal that is published quarterly by Elsevier B.V. JAR is available online to interested readers as an open access journal through Sciedirect, without the need for a subscription. JAR aims to publish peer reviewed research and review articles in the fields of basic sciences, applied sciences, including technology, biomedical sciences, and related disciplines. All manuscripts are subjected to a rigorous review process by the responsible Associate Editor, and if deemed appropriate, are sent for anonymous peer-reviewing by experts in the field.

The journal has a distinguished editorial board with extensive academic qualifications, ensuring that the journal maintains high scientific standards. JAR only accepts original contributions that have not been previously or simultaneously published elsewhere. JAR is indexed in Scopus, Google Scholar and currently is being evaluated by Thomson Reuters. JAR has been cited 42 times in both 2010 and 2011 for a total number of 83 documents.

Renowned scientists, including Magdi Yacoub (UK), Mostafa El-Sayed (USA), Mostafa Elshahed (USA), Ângelo de Fátima (Brazil), Mohamed Faisal (USA), Clifford Starliper (USA), Holger Hindorf (Germany), Gaku Ichihara (Japan), Jose Luis Tadeo (Spain), Robert Sturm (Austria), and Neil Coville (South Africa) have published review articles in the past two years. In addition, we had a special issue on Mobile Ad-Hoc Wireless Networks that was edited by Tarek Saadawi (USA) and Hussein Mouftah (Canada).

In this context, we invite you to contribute to Journal of Advanced Research by submitting a review, original article, short communications, case report, and/or letter to the editor.
